

Beths Blog

Week ending Friday 29 September 2017

This week we have seen the calm before the storm.

Year 11 sat trial English exams at the start of the week and we have been celebrating Language and Culture Week every day with students dressing in International dress on Wednesday to raise money for Water Aid. Independent Catering served International cuisine throughout the week and, on Friday, students were treated to a cheese tasting.

Watch out for next week's bulletin for photos and more news of what took place.

It is less than two weeks until our first Open Event for new Year 6 students on Thursday 12 October. Please look out for a letter which will be forwarded to you very shortly. This will give details about our Open Events and will request that your son attends the Open Evening on Tuesday 17 October in order for him to be involved within departments during the evening or touring around the school propective boys and their parents. We have plenty of new ideas in store for our visitors this year and, as normal, your son is expected to play his part in making their experience a really informative and useful one.

On the Tuesday (17 October), school will close at 12.50pm in order to allow for staff (and some students) to fully prepare the site for our visitors. Our Open Evening starts at 5.00pm and finishes at 8.00pm and the letter that you will receive will detail whether your son/daughter will be required for part or all of the evening. Of course, the following day, because of their help during the evening, the school day starts at 10.00am giving them a very well deserved lie in.

11+ results are published on Thursday and our new website will be 'live' just before then. We had some excellent photos taken for the site and on this page are a few of them.

